It seems to me that only OS4 game sales can almost reach 100 copies. (Based mainly on amiboing.de highscore statistics).

But for the three platforms together takes this time to preorder such a game like Wings Remastered is surprises me. Especially to see that how it slows this time which indicates nearly the end of the absorption capacity of the market.

It is a good pointer of the size of this market. Furthermore note the fact that some users (like me) buys everything that just released for the pure intent on supporting developers.

I hope this market will grow in time!

Let's preorder the remaining stock, because I have no room for two copies! 😊
