I really like that script, that's a fantastic interface it creates. I still think I prefer ClipGrab or SMTube because they utilize a different method to start downloads versus starting the download in Odyssey. I have issues sometimes where Odyssey freezes when there are multiple downloads started. But definitely will make use of the script, especially since there is no need for a special mplayer command, or Emotion to view the resulting downloads. ClipGrab doesn't have this player specific issue when it is used to download videos.
