yt.rexx works or doesn't depending on what country you're in and even down to the age of the files. YT changed things here 6 to 8 months ago and very little works with YT.rexx any more.

run it from a shell and if you get an error like:

Unable to open T:YT-Site.html

then it's probably not worth integrating into ibrowse until it's fixed.

If it does work open ibrowse grfs / gui /fab menus open the link list and drag the word custom from the middle section to the right section.

then just fill in the 3 string gadgets below

Name: YT

Action [ARExx]<your path>yt/yt.rexx[int] %l ibrowse
