Right, it crashes because on beta we have newer newlib.library which had statvfs() implemented. So to not wait when another OS update will come up, i can just build euae without statvfs() usage (as probably mickjt do before when build versions which on os4depot).

Is it make any sense for anyone ? Imho having latest SDL be build with , and have alt+enter for switch between fullscreen/window worth it. At least for me is :) i can also add Salass00 fix for >2gb support, if anyone will test it before, of course :) maybe in meantime Capehill will add (?:) ) iconify support to sdl1 :)

It can be also good idea to switch from sdl1 to sdl2 in euae.
