Was it prompting for a password when you pressed ctrl-c?

Yes exactly, i was trying to close the shell in that situation, although the password was already given and the archive was already extracted .. that's why i didn't say to you, i though there were no relation with that

In theory it should be relatively simple to add locale support using standard AmigaOS catalogs.

I found an old 3.20 version when some work seems already done, there is a catalog descriptor file (old of course) and some related code for the translation (loclangAmiga.h and loclangAmiga.hpp files)

Have a look here:
