1.24 was last working version from fab on morpho, but it's not much better than 1.23, just a few months later webkit. I asked a few times about back in time, but have no answer.

Anyway, even if I got 1.24 source, spending so much work to report everything just because of only a few months better webkit makes no sense.

As for all newer versions: we all know why. There is no any open source version of Odyssey with fresh webkit, even with broken endians. Morphos devs for sure will not share code if they will make it any day.
