I've tracked down the source of my AmigaGuide system freeze when I use a text link to a USB log in an AmigaGuide document. It appears to be a datatype file identification problem. If you enter the following line in a text editor and save it as a file, when you open it with Multiview/Multiviewer it is displayed with column separators and a converted date.

I: [09:38:49] STRANGE

If you create a text link to the file containing the above line it causes a system freeze.

@Andy

Since the above issue also occurs with Multiviewer, maybe you can determine what is causing the above issue and explain it to us.
