Use the scroll bar or press the shift key!

If you open with multiviewer that ram:t/usb.log , and with installed logfile.datatype : then not only scrolling by mouse wheel slow. ANY scrolling slow like hell, and looks like cpu consuming task. Does not matter if you hold shift , or use scrollbar for. Its just didn't scroll content as supposed to scroll any other ascii data in any other editor/viewer/etc.

Just try it yourself for sake of tests. Very visibly that something wrong with datatype when it come to scrolling of ascii data. Maybe it by default scroll by pixels and not by lines, but that didn't explain such a massive slow-motion.
