You cant blame Hans to not fix immediately Nova: after all we dont know about his life and perhaps he have more urgent/important personnal things to do in his life than fixing a hobby computer program.

Usually the answer is "will be done in a future release" for subcontractor or for employee "I will take care of it as soon as I will have time" and you put the paper up to a big stack of folders meaning " but I have so much to do..."

Dont blame him for not saying such bullshits
