No. I have not clicked the button to make the new partition bootable. The only partition that is bootable is my main system partition. But it does sound as if the system is confused as to where to look for ENV:.

All of my partitions are on the same hard drive.

SWAP

DH0 = main system = FFS

DH1 = miscellaneous stuff = JXFS

DH2 = a small FFS partition for AmiCygrix

I was adding the 2nd JXFS partition as DH3 as the next partition in the empty space beyond the others.
