As suggested earlier missing or wrong MUI classes, download all MUI classes you can find for AmigaOS4 PPC, then overwrite the directory whit the Install CD, in case you have some 68000 versions installed, you might run md5 check, and maybe try listing the files whit elist found on OS4Depot.net, you probably should overwrite the files you have on you hard-disk the ones found on your OS4 install CD, but if there are any programs keeping locks on files in MUI directory then your not going to be able to replace them, so please boot from the install CD first! (Always reboot after installing system files unless you know no program has used the system files before.)

I think your problem might have some thing to do whit installing from diskimage mount tool, or not booting from install CD, before installing, if you did not do any thing after installing OS4 final, then it most likely a CRC error on your CD, try burning a new CD, NEVER USE CDRW disks.
