Oh yes, good old db101 . I wonder what happened to the bug reports that I sent to Thomas Frieden about the msr and ip bugs...

Did he answer you btw ? Maybe mail just die in beetwen :)

@retro

No, we talk about disassembled and reassembled binary (which after that works, but works the same as before : not works :) ). But in this way we have source code which can be compiled back (but that source code are assembler code, what is suck, as well as fully uncommented and unstructured).
