old version of click2front poke some private structs of intuition which was changed in new version

As "old version" you mean that there is a newest version of ClickToFront (i mean newest than the current public 53.2) ?

If so would be good to have it already, currently for what i can understand Intuition 53.42 works fine with ClickToFront 52.3 (atleast on X1000) but fails with the latest 53.2 available on other system
