I tried to contact with Troels about few times in last 3 months i think, but there was some problems like "we have problems with who and what will do and when" and "we want to restructure rulz and co" or so.

Then i tried to contact with power2people.org, but they hold only opensource projects.

Seems that amigabounty.net admins just loose all motivation lately and have no interest, and no time to hold all of this anymore. Pity, site are pretty helpful. At least by those bounties you can see that users want something for real, and not only talks on forums about almighty amiga :)
