

---

Subject: : Amigabounty

Topic: : MUIOWB : AmigaBounty still alive ?

Re: MUIOWB : AmigaBounty still alive ?

Author: : kas1e

Date: : 2013/5/13 8:36:06

URL:

@smf

Yeah, in end it seems just some popular and non related to amiga bounty site will be used. Just not kickstarter, as it have some limitations in terms of what county accepted, but there for sure some other ones which can be used. If anyone know some trustworthy and popular one, which accept paypal and send it over paypal back without probs, then that can be helpfull

@Vulture

Its not on svn, and only some old sources (1.9) publicaly avail on fab's page. Newer ones he just send privately, so its not opensource in usual mean.

Besides, bounty its not just "port of new version of odyssey for os4", but its collection of small chunks, like some bit for Thore for his work on os4 mui (because when we start to port that muiowb, on mui itself was done a looot of everything which in end happen to be new mui), some bit for Deniil, main summ to Fab for initial work on browser and because its him who author, some for me for all the stuff, etc. I.e. all logical, and without "taking money from work done by another person" like someone can think.

I just assume that power2people just do not like that kind of bounty, as it somehow promote os4 only (and what mean no opensource). I send them text after "send it, we will have a look", and after have no answers => they do not want that.