Just to sort out the easiest cause...have you tried replacing your battery with a new one?
(With "new" i mean a completely new one and not one from another computer)

Not sure how "easy" that is with your hardware, but "I do have problems with the battery clock" means you have problems with the battery, not with the battery clock
(The time is simply stored there as the battery has no other mechanisms...if the battery keeps losing time, it's drain[ing/ed] or broken!)

For the worst case...you don't happen to have another gfx card to test?
