

Subject: : OWB

Topic: : Reaction OWB better than MUIOWB?

Re: Reaction OWB better than MUIOWB?

Author: : ChrisH

Date: : 2013/6/25 18:23:56

URL:

Quote:

And as regards adding features: he was apparently reluctant to add features even when his OWB was in full development, so...

I don't wish to put words in his mouth, but I think he always saw RA-OWB as a "stop-gap" measure until Timberwolf was ready. Sadly things have taken (and still take...) a lot longer than hoped.

I'm not too fussed about MUI-OWB crashing, since it has the WONDERFUL MAGICAL (but strangely disabled by default?) feature where it auto-saves all open tabs, so that in event of a crash I do not lose which pages I had open.

And I don't wish to put words into Kas1e's mouth either, but from the outside he appears to have lost interest in updating MUI-OWB & instead now starts yet more major ports (e.g. DOpus5) which I have to wonder if they will be finished either. (In Kas1e's defence, he did privately tell me some reasons why MUI-OWB had not been updated, but it's now months later without any sign, so I find it hard to believe those were the only reasons.) (And I don't want to sound ungrateful for all the work Kas1e has already put into organising & doing the porting of MUI-OWB, it's already very good, I just worry that it will never be improved further.)