I believe it was there already in 3.5, but at some point it got changed to use Alt. Then later, in early OS4, it was changed to allow either Shift or Alt.

Strange :) So it was shift in the 3.5, then no shift in 3.9, and then shift again in the 4.x ? Strange why there was needs to add shift, if alt already there and works. And before, and now. I mean, what the reasons for 2 the same shortcuts to do the same thing ?

Also there is Ctrl to boot without startup-sequence.

I know, question is why on os4 now its shift and alt (what the reasons to have 2 the same ?). Why it was added at all ?
