

Subject: : AmigaOS4

Topic: : Shorten or Compress a String/URL

Re: Shorten or Compress a String/URL

Author: : afxgroup

Date: : 2015/11/5 18:24:51

URL:

If apache has the limit of 8k, you can't exceed this value (and i suppose you can't change it..).
As Severin said use gzip to compress it. But do a gzip+base64 and not the contrary if you need to pass it via querystring. Of course if Apache supports gzip compression you can use a POST to send data using gzip directly