Yes, it's a real shame! I think the site-engine/SCM is really nice.

Hopefully someone will be able to make it work, although it might be hard to gain trust again.

Furthermore, what is the legal aspect of these kind of things? How does it work, surely there "must" be some sort of legal entity connected to it? Or is it just someone's personal bank account connected to it? (I mean in general for these kind of things, not specifically amigabounty.net.)
