

Subject: : Unsatisfactory Software

Topic: : (solved) NetSurf very unstable?

(solved) NetSurf very unstable?

Author: : ChrisH

Date: : 2016/8/5 11:34:33

URL:

I was wondering if I am the only person to find NetSurf (v3.6 & possibly v3.x in general) to be horribly unstable. Since I'm now disabling JavaScript for most websites in Odyssey (to make it stable), the only thing really stopping me from using NetSurf is the instability.

I don't recall NetSurf used to be unstable, at least for v2.x . So I think it's v3.6 (or possibly earlier) where it became unstable for me.

Typically it crashes (often bringing down the whole OS) when I exit NetSurf, although it can sometimes happen while I am just browsing. (e.g. I tried to visit the NetSurf feature request page on SourceForge, and the whole OS froze. Mostly it just seems to crash NetSurf though.)

Anyone else having this problem, or is it just me?