Sometimes using a printer over CUPS like that isn't really doable ... but until then all my printing has to happen under Windows or Linux.

Hummm - I seem to have a weak remembrance that at some point in history (before the first OS 4 release) someone from the OS4 developers/Hyperion (Rogue?) announced that "CUPS" was meant to become the new printing system of the Amiga NG OS and to replace the 'quasi-standard' TurboPrint.

Does my Memory serve me right?

And if so, what has become of it?
