Pretty sure the startup lag is not due to AISS icon loading, I have TBIMAGES: on SFS2 on ymSAM and see no lags with MVer which is the heaviest AISS user on my system.

I think it's loading most (if not all) it's images from it's "images" directory rather than the TBImages: directory. I only get about a 1 second startup delay but if you run Snoopy while starting Workbench Explorer, you will see why there is a slight time penalty for opening several hundred images.
