Hmm, good spot, I have both AmiPDF/AmiPDF.xml and ShellProcess/AmiPDF.xml and they are identical. Hence me not seeing any difference in behaviour.

I'm not convinced this is a feature, more of an emergent behaviour, I'll raise a BZ tomorrow, when I'm more awake.

The names of the windows are simply created from the UniqueID passed to the window class, the developer should have to care about anything else in something as high level as window.class The uniqueness of the names is significantly eroded in the ShellProcess case.
