What is the chipset on the card you received? That large chip on the board. If yours says emu10k1x-dbq it will not work. I also purchased one at eBay from the link on Hyperion (or was it a link on Amiga.org I forget) but the link was not for the right one.

Although I just looked at your picture and at least the driver is popping up in your sound prefs. It did not on mine. So maybe your card is bad or some setting issue?

You got farther than I. Only Filesave modes appeared on mine so never saw the card I guess.

Did you try booting direct from the Amiga OS X5K CD (which is a perfect clean OS to test from) and see if sound works?

Maybe your prefs are boogered up.
