At least on latest videos, can be seen that it handle 3 different video modes without interrupting , right ? First one is VGA one with some low-res , then amigaos4.1 logo (another lowres one, but sure different than bios one), and then workbench (something like 1280x960?).

Through in last video, isn't there some "interrupt" in video recording, when you run settlers ? I can see you unpack data, then, i can see mouse stay where it was, and then settlers runs and plays (i mean i didn't see how mouse moves over it icon, dbl-click, and runs, like it all skips in recording).
