Just noticed today by some luck that when MUI is expired, odyssey just bring necessary window about needs of updating, and then just crashes heavy. So fixed the crash, and if anyone want it, there is just a binary which you use instead of old binary from os4depot's version of odyssey:

For question about "is it possible to update to new webkit core" answer is no, because we all know why. All we can do now it just add some little cosmetic and little fixes there and there to that version.
