1.24 was last working version from fab on morpho, but it's not much better than 1.23, just few months later webkit. I asked few times about back in times, but have no answer.

Anyway, even if got 1.24 source, spending so much work to report everything just because of only few month better webkit make no sense.

As for all newer versions : we all know why. There is no any opensource version of odyssey with fresh webkit, even with broken endians. Morphos devs for sure will not share code if they will made it any day.
