amistore is a-eon product, hyperion don't have access maybe, easier to upload on their own servers.

I'm sure that Hyperion could sell on AmiStore just like any developer/company who wanted to sell via the store. However, Hyperion already have a system to sell via their website, so of course they're going to use it.

 Yes, their system redirects to Avangate for payment, but it's not that different from someone using PayPal to pay for orders on my company's website.
