

Subject: : AmigaOS4

Topic: : List of wanted Software

Re: List of wanted Software

Author: : nbache

Date: : 2019/7/1 21:37:23

URL:

@Amigo1

(about network stack)

Quote:

I just was assuming it to be something which should be integrated at system-level, and as such someone who is part of or with a direct line to the OS team could have advantages.

Yeah - I don't think it's that important. Think about the all-time favourite on 3.x, Miami. I'm pretty sure Holger Kruse didn't have any particular access to inside information.

The most important thing is probably to have expert knowledge in network programming in general, and lots of patience and perseverance.

And in AmigaOS, few things really need to be that closely integrated - it's part of the lovely modular and layered nature of it.

Best regards,

Niels