Please have a look at <http://aiostreams.amiga-projects.net>

Since Twitch.tv is not usable in any of our available browsers, I created the above website as a good companion for the aiostreams scripts.

It is much faster than twitch.tv, with no javascripts and tracking scripts. It doesn't support logins, and might never support.

The aim is to include in this website as many networks as possible, and remain usable on IBrowse and AWeb browsers (maybe on Voyager as well).

Have in mind that some links lead to twitch.tv website. These can be used with the aiostreams scripts, and if you configure the browser to have those scripts on left click menus, they can automatically open on your workbench.

You can track the next steps and my todo list for this page at

Also, I have a workaround ready for the twitch script were some streams cannot work, which I am currently testing. A new version will be released soon. Keep an eye on this topic.
