I post that video in another thread, but just in case someone will miss it , so there is video on which i show Huno's RTCW Reborn running on x5000 with all possible full details with beta of RadeonHD driver with that fix about 256mb GPU crash:

There you can see that once everything loads with full details, it need 800mb of GPU video memory.

Thinking about past limitations of just 256mb of video memory where also system placed, GPU usage really help.
