Through, firstly try it. As seems (at least from my first try) there can be some issue with new Bison, when it by some reasons tried to parse in adtools's libintl some .y file, and seems done it wrong, and one of the files can't compile. I found in google some fixes, but then, somehow that problem auto fixes, and i can't reproduce it anymore : that why i didn't write about in article.

So, try it firstly, if you will meet with the same error when will build adtools, and expectually that libintl, i may try to check it again, as i probably fixed it for myself, just can't by some reasons rollback to recheck it.
