Sorry if I come back to this topic,

I noticed that initially Odyssey on youtube videos takes a few seconds to start working well.

It is possible in some way acting on the settings to decrease this "lag" for example to increase the buffer or the cache what are the configuration files on which I can test to decrease this "lag" ??

Could this be due to the fact that it loads the youtube page with the other thumbnails and everything else?

here the three minute video for those who have patience to help me.

Thank you all!
