I tested win32 version of dosbox, and there if i set "opengl" to output in config, i didn't have 50% speed drop as we have on os4. Everything the same by speed.

I assume that our 3d drivers still.. still only amiga :)

Maybe its exactly that "non-dma" thing ? I mean, what else it can be , that it that slower in compare with just pure graphics.library functions, which is even known to be non-dma on x5000 at moment..
