Wow.

I go away for a couple days of overtime, and it looks like I missed the party!

It's interesting that kas1e gets different compile issues. I didn't expect that.

I'm sure the CAMD cluster code can be improved. I am happy to do it, but finding enough time to do it might not be easy.

I have not even had time to play with it yet. I'm not sure when I will either. But it's always good to see MIDI activity on the Amiga. I'll try to keep an eye on this forum in case I can help, but there might be a couple days delay when I get busy at work.

This is all good news. :)
