Here the video with the use of the ZTools the resolution used is 1920x1080.

I would like to better understand the functioning of the ZTools when I put the priority of the chosen task, for example 127, I can't understand how I can set the priority individually for each process.

Or is it done automatically?

And the other tasks remain at their original value?

Cause it looks like they are all set to 127 (but I'm probably wrong)

Thanks for any suggestions.

A video capture program was used here but the result is excellent.
