he crash was a DSI one, but for some reason the crashlog cannot be saved at all .. so i saved a grab, ask if you need

On that grab no stack trace visibly ? I.e. is it the same as you have one time when de-iconify with mui things in stack trace ?

Probably the site visited is not so important, but the relevant part of the crash is:

Type: DSI

Pointer instruction: 0x081653C

Alert: 80000003

Module: kernel

You mean this it not relevant part of the crash :) Because without stack trace it show nothing interesting. From all the crashes relevant parts for real is stack traces and disassembly.
