I want to add new agents...

In the kt_scripts archive on OS4Depot there is a script included that allows you to set the user agent to spoof as more modern browsers and set a custom one if you want. I've tried out a lot of newer user agents and the trouble is that it causes some sites, like YouTube, to try to use features that aren't supported with Odyssey. Anyway, you can try different user agents with Odyssey with this script and see if you can find user agents you like. It would be nice to have something built in.

You can get kt_scripts Here!
