I've been asked to look at this, I can confirm that the lockup occurs when dragging an MUI element after a couple of ticks of the clock.

It only occurs when compositing effects are of *off* on the screen. It also does not occur with the X-Dock Cloak.dockapp (which uses the same underlying gadget).

Thor makes reference to "global screen locking" as there is no such thing I guess he means one of

LockIBase
LockScreen
LockScreenGI
LockLayers

but Clock calls none of these.

Whilst I have registered at the MUIDev site there is a delay authorising my account so can't post this there, if you could ask him for clarification on the above that would be very helpful.
