1)Prefs SPOOF AS just let the user add useragents and from such list, then activate/enable the DEFAULT and let other be shown on the MENU.

2)The MENU has the list of SHOW IN MENU items from the list and let the user change the useragent to use to the site/web page is browsing.

By default the one selected is the DEFAULT in 1)

Maybe a little explanation/decription can be added to prefs SPOOF AS page, so if someone can elaborate a clear/easy/short explanation I'll add it.

EDIT: I won't deny is a bit compicated first, but thats how is/was implemented from beginning, I only added the option to add new useragents without a full recompile of Odyssey.

And we need spoofing, 'cos we use an old webkit engine IMHO, to fake sites/webs we use an "updated"/compatible web browser.
