On further testing, I increased the MAXMEM tooltype to 10000000 and this made some images to load just fine. But there seems to be the following problems as well:

1. When run ADPro, the system freezes for a few seconds, the AmigaAmp stops streaming and the amidock stops working. Also, no menu appears to work on workbench. Then the ADPro window appears, and it is usable, but none of the above returns to work as they should.
2. ADPro seems to have issues with long filenames, something like more than 32 letters.

Anyone using it under OS4?
