It just time come and youtube start their changes they says about months ago. Just not in all countries changes immediately take place, but soon or later everyone will have the same issues K-L have.

What we can do there currently, it's to find out ways how to workaround it for future. Maybe some new youtube scripts need to be written which can handle that issues, etc. They surely should't abandon iPad, etc support too soon, so probabaly we firstly need to find correct spoofing and then maybe some new youtube scripts.
