

Subject: : AmigaOS4

Topic: : YouTube with Odyssey V1.23 r5 Beta07

Re: YouTube with Odyssey V1.23 r5 Beta07

Author: : kas1e

Date: : 2020/7/2 17:34:11

URL:

@ktadd

For me it's enough to just go follow those ways:

- 1). spoof as any ipad (6.1 or 3.x does not matter)
- 2). go to "m.youtube.com"
- 3). just open via middle mouse button (or via open in new tab if need it) necessary video => it then opens in the url like with "desktop" word at end, and we have a video played which we can switch to accelerated-compositing one.

Through, all comments and stuff missing of course, just video works.

But it works not all the time, and pretty annoying for sure. We need to made some script which will give us ability to use plain mobile version with ability to switch to compositing video mode.

Maybe we need somehow to detect when pressed "resize" button, so it will instead jump to fullscreen.

Because when spoofed as ipad for example, and using mobile version everything works, just no ability to switch to accelerated version.