Thanks for the information.

Yes, cards that are compatible with the Linux drivers ath5k or MadWiFi should work, as long as they support 802.11g (my driver doesn't support 802.11a). Any additions to the compatibility list would be welcome 😊

BTW I'm away on holidays at the moment, so I can't easily access the driver docs for comparison, but I'll update them when I'm home.

@Mikey_C

Do the cards in the photos work for you then? If so, in which machines?
