Hi yeah I might though the current case I have doesn't have a external access for it. Also I'm using the PCI slot for the wifi card, though I'm looking at getting a PCIE adapter to use with the wifi card so I can still use the onboard SATA, or use a PCI SATA card that it also came with. But generally speaking I don't need a CDROM very much, I have all my UAE setups and all my old Amiga software cloned onto a single massive USB stick I can move between computers including this one, and therefore mount my ADF, and CD images using DiskImage
