Or maybe its enough to just improve diskimage device, so it can have ability to "repack" to the ISO. Or maybe some programm based around diskimage device which will give ability to create ISOs.

mkisofs will create ISOs without too much trouble. I have a script for creating rescue disks with it.

It probably wouldn't be too hard to create a front end with ProAction / python or REXX.

The bigger issue is writing them to disk. MakeCD works and is free.
