An OS update can put extra stress on your machine and components . Especially one with an updated kernel. If no one else seems to have this problem then it is likely that the issue is being caused by some factor in your configuration. Either hardware or software .

From personal experience the following issues have caused my Sam460ex to experience instability at one time:

- (1)Filesystem Maxtransfer setting incorrect.
- (2)CPU fan disconnected .
- (3)Graphics Card not properly seated.
- (4)Defective power supply .
