Looks like the Kickstart is loading but is getting stuck after that. You should be seeing the X5K logo on the monitor during the start-up process.

Can you interrupt the startup and get to the uboot shell? There is a setting for Amiga OS quiet boot. I forget the exact tag but it's easy to find with "printenv".

I would try another video card. Squirrly things happens if the video card has an issue.

A few months ago my X5K died due to the video card giving up the ghost.
