Hi yeah, it looks like the htmlview class doesn't like the image links. If I remove the top four lines of the README.md from that file, so that the first bit of content is

MD4C Readme

then "update" works fine for me. Do you get the same?

Looking at the htmlview class, it hasn't been updated in 5 years but the latest commits are about a year after the last public release so I'll take a look at that and see if I can see what the problem is.

cheers
